

Cynthia Corbett—Bio

Cynthia Corbett is a Research Human Factors Specialist on the Cabin Safety Research Team in the Protection & Survival Laboratory at the Civil Aerospace Medical Institute, Oklahoma City, OK. Ms. Corbett is pursuing an M.A. in experimental psychology, with a human factors emphasis, from the University of Central Oklahoma. She is an adjunct faculty member at Southern Nazarene University, Bethany, OK, where she typically teaches research design and statistics. Ms. Corbett is a member of the American Psychological Association, Oklahoma Psychological Association, Aerospace Medical Association, Aerospace Human Factors Association and Psi Chi National Honor Society.