

Abstract for Anthropometrics

Graham Greene - CAA

Increasingly longer duration flights at high passenger densities are being offered by airlines. As the bodily dimensions of passengers are generally increasing, possible dimensions for minimum seating standards are considered. The study was commissioned by the JAA and undertaken by ICE Ergonomics in the UK.