

Kendall D. Hester - bio

Kendall D. Hester has been an engineer with Boeing Commercial Airplanes for 21 years. His primary activity has been in avionics. He has been involved in developing new designs, manufacturing processes, test procedures, and development of several Boeing requirements documents for electronic components, environmental stress screening, and accelerated testing.