

Richard Mazzone

Rich Mazzone is a Mechanical Engineer with the Boeing Commercial Airplane Group in Everett Washington. He received his BSME from The University of Texas at El Paso in 1972. In the 24 years Rich has worked for The Boeing Company, he has had the opportunity to contribute as a Manufacturing Engineer, Manufacturing Research and Development Engineer for interiors, Liaison Engineer, Design Engineer for Propulsion and Payloads and is currently a Systems Engineer in the Product Development Group for the 777 airplane. He is an Associate Technical Fellow who has been involved in Halon replacement efforts for the last five years.