

Ms. Jennifer McCormick

Ms. McCormick has been working in the Aerospace/Defense Industry for over 8 years. She holds BS Chemical Engineering, MS Engineering and MBA degrees from the University of Washington. She currently works as a Program Manager at Aerojet in their Safety Products group where her focus is on the development of aircraft fire suppression systems. She currently has 3 publications to her credit associated with operational and developmental considerations for solid propellant gas generators.