

James M. Peterson is a Senior Technical Fellow at the Boeing Commercial Airplane Company, specializing in the technical and regulatory aspects of airplane fire safety. Jim received a BS in chemistry and mathematics from Wake Forest, and a PhD in chemistry from Caltech. He joined Boeing Scientific Research Laboratories in 1969, and transferred to his current assignment in 1974.