

Dr. Suresh Keshavanarayana (Raju) is an assistant professor in the Department of Aerospace Engineering, Wichita State University. He specializes in experimental solid mechanics with emphasis on damage resistance and tolerance of sandwich structures, dynamic material characterization and energy absorption devices for crashworthiness applications.