

Mark Bathie is the Civil Aviation Safety Authority Australia (CASA) Crashworthiness Specialist. Mark looks after all airworthiness aspects of cabin safety equipment and structural crashworthiness for aircraft ranging from Ultralights to transport category aircraft. Mark handles development of standards, certification and continuing airworthiness issues. Mark holds a degree in Aeronautical Engineering from Sydney University. Previously, Mark was the Engineering Manager with a light aircraft manufacturer.