

Peter Chittenden

EASA

Peter Chittenden is the Manager of the Cabin Safety Specialists section at EASA and has been there for almost six years now. Prior to this he worked in the aircraft manufacturing industry and the United Kingdom Civil Aviation Authority. The Cabin Safety specialists section, as well as working on aircraft and major modification approvals, continued airworthiness oversight, design organization approvals and rulemaking activities, is closely involved in the research activities of the Agency.