

Richard Hill – FAA

Mr. Hill has a B.S. Mechanical Engineering from Fairleigh Dickinson University and a Masters in Aviation Management from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University.

He is Program Manager, Fire Safety R&D, Federal Aviation Administration Technical Center with experience in all aspects of in-flight and post crash aircraft fire protection, and passenger evacuation R&D. Mr. Hill has authored more than 100 technical reports and papers and given than 50 technical presentations at national and international conferences or meetings.

Former Chairman, International Aircraft Materials Fire Test Working Group
Former Chairman, International Aircraft Halon Replacement Working Group
FAA R&D representative to the International Cabin Safety Technical Team