

Dave Blake
FAA Technical Center

Class E Cargo Compartment Fire Suppression

Abstract: This presentation describes testing to determine the effectiveness and feasibility of several methods to provide fire protection to the main deck Class E cargo compartments of freighter aircraft. Some of the concepts tested include fire resistant containers, airplane based suppression systems plumbed to each individual container, and self contained suppression systems installed in individual containers. The testing was conducted in the FAA Full Scale Fire Test Facility.