

Scott Campbell

Scott Campbell is the Director of Flammability Engineering at Zodiac Aerospace Commercial OEM Cabin Interiors, a complete interior/ cargo compartment supplier and integrator. He has 28 years experience in material and process engineering and fire safety certification. Scott has been an FAA appointed DER since 1990 and since that time has regularly participated with the International Aircraft Materials Fire Test Working Group. Scott recently Co-Chaired the Flammability Standardization Task Group (FSTG) with Michael Jensen (Boeing) which partnered with the FAA to validate the Methods of Compliance (MoCs) published in FAA Policy Statement PS-ANM-25.853-01.

Scott graduated from California State University, Long Beach with a BS in Chemical Engineering. He also has a MS in Engineering Management received from West Coast University.