

David Moorcroft

David Moorcroft is a Research Engineer for the Federal Aviation Administration Civil Aerospace Medical Institute's Biodynamic Research Team. Mr. Moorcroft holds a Masters degree in Engineering Mechanics from Virginia Tech. He has authored numerous papers concerning the use of computational methods for occupant safety. He is also a member of the ASME Standards Committee on Verification and Validation in Computational Solid Mechanics.