

Dipesh Patel

After studying Chemistry at the University of Manchester, Dipesh has specialised in developing new coating technology in a variety of industries, including Packaging, Automotive, Rail and Aviation. Since Dipesh joined E-Leather, he has been responsible for developing, improving and certifying new products for the aviation and rail industry, based on the unique E-Leather patented composition leather process.