

Alexander Snegirev, Ph.D.

Biography

Alexander Snegirev has been working for Saint-Petersburg State Polytechnic University, Russia, for the last 8 years after 6 years at the University of Central Lancashire, UK. He delivers postgraduate courses on Combustion Theory and Theoretical Fundamentals of Fire and Explosion Safety. His particular research interests include CFD modeling of fire and fire suppression, as well as experimental and theoretical studies in material flammability. He is a Member of ASME, Chartered Engineer registered with the Engineering Council (UK), Member of the Institute of Physics and of the Combustion Institute (British Section).