

Bryan Calungcagin

Bryan Calungcagin received his B. S. in Mechanical Engineering from California State University Long Beach and will complete his M.S. in Systems Engineering from Loyola Marymount University Spring of 2020. He is the former lead of Northrop Grumman's Area 67, a Rapid Design, Concept Development and Experimental Testing Facility and is now a Systems Engineer.